Clyde Wheatley...

...an accomplished jazz musician, lives in Holden, Massachusetts with his wife and two children.

Born in England and raised when the Beatles and the Stones were exploding their influence on the rest of the world, Clyde's musical awakening came from the American standards and swing-era music. As a seven-year-old, he was captivated with the Benny Goodman Story, the 1955 biopic of the famed bandleader and clarinetist. By the time he was 11, Clyde's clarinet had become another appendage.

Clyde developed a teenage appetite for the music of Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw, Stan Getz, Oscar Hammerstein, Jerome Kern, Duke Ellington, Glenn Miller, Cole Porter, Charlie "Bird" Parker, Dizzy Gillespie and Frank Sinatra. Clyde also admires and enjoys playing the music of the more modern composers such as Grover Washington Jr., Spyro Gyra and Kenny G. Clyde studied under the Royal School of Music, London and by the time he reached young adulthood he was playing the alto and soprano saxophones as well as the clarinet in jazz concerts.

Clyde formed and fronted an eight-piece band for 12 years, and eventually became a featured performer in upscale hotels and restaurants in and around Southern England. His career has taken him to top London venues such as King Henry VIII's Hampton Court Palace, Westminster Central Hall, and London's most prestigious Royal Albert Hall. More recently he has become a favorite of the State House in Boston and members of the Bush Administration - he also appears occasionally on local television.

Clyde is accustomed to performing on-stage for audiences of all ages, and yet, in a romantic or quiet setting he specializes in complimenting rather than dominating the function or event, whether it is a romantic dinner or cocktail hour and he is able to operate in the smallest of spaces.

Clyde has developed a uniquely original, personal, and accessible live solo performance style. Accompanied by well orchestrated arrangements of jazz standards, swing, ballads, bossa novas and contemporary jazz, he adds sparkle and elegance as he mingles comfortably at dinner parties, cocktail hours, weddings, wine tastings, fund-raisers, business functions (private and corporate) and all other occasions and events.

Testimonials

It was an absolute pleasure to meet you and to hear your beautiful music. Listening to you play was like being wrapped in a cloud. You created a wonderful atmosphere on both days and tears on our wedding day.

~ Jon & Lisa

My thanks once again for making the Chamber's Annual Dinner such a special event. You bring a touch of class wherever you perform. Your business card says it all: "music played with true panache." I couldn't agree more!

~ Jennifer Stanovich, Executive Director,
Holden Area Chamber of Commerce

Thank you, Thank you, Thank you - I simply am unable to tell you how your participation in my 70th birthday party made it an even greater success - your music made the day. So many people have asked us where we found you. The Director of Music for the college is on the Jazz Board and he was non-plussed to hear such a competent musician.

~ Lou & Veronica Lorenzen

Thank you for the superb entertainment you provided at Emuge's Open House events last week. Your music and style perfectly complimented the quality image we have set for our company, and you should know that I received several comments to that effect. I hope you will be willing to come back to some future Emuge events.

~ Peter Matysiak, Emuge President
